JCRA CONSUMER GUIDE

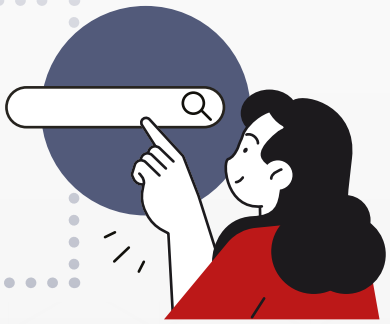

Reviewing your telecom services

Four simple steps to check whether your telecom services meet your needs and provides value for money.

1 Check your usage

Review your mobile service allowances, your broadband speed and how you use these services. Capped allowances and reduced speeds may meet your needs.

2 Know your contract status

Check your renewal date. Providers regularly launch new plans, so it is worth a look around even if you are happy with your current one.

Out of contract?

YES	NO
You have full flexibility to compare, switch or renegotiate right away.	Note your renewal date and compare your options before your contract ends.

3 Compare your options

Weigh up bundled versus separate services, and look beyond price to consider coverage, reliability, customer service and contract flexibility. Get quotes from more than one provider for mobile and broadband to find the best deal. Check what each offer before you sign up or renew.

4 Don't be afraid to switch

Switching is straightforward. You can usually switch online and keep your existing mobile and/or home number, with your new provider managing the process on your behalf.
